Introduction to Health & Safety at Work Training

Tuesday 02 March 2010 £Free to members £30 other non for profit organisations

9.30am to 4pm Light lunch included

VAWF, Upper Ground, Church Hill Business Centre, 6 Church Hill, London, E17 3RY

This course provides an introduction to health and safety legislation so that delegates will be able to relate the legal requirement of employers and employees to their own areas of responsibility.

Who should attend?

This course will be useful for anyone in the organisation that has health and safety responsibility particularly managers, and committee members, but is also useful for those that just want to find out more about the subject.

Learning Outcomes:

Make personnel aware of their roles and responsibilities

Understand the requirements of section 1 to 9 of the Health and Safety at Work Act etc

Explain the hierarchy of control measures.

Understand the main requirements of sections 1 to 3 of the Management of Health and Safety at Work Regulations.
